

2017 NEW AMERICAN FICTION PRIZE

Winner receives a publication contract, including 25 complimentary copies, promotional support, and a crisp check for $1,000.

Extended deadline is JUNE 30, 2017.

All full-length fiction manuscripts are welcome, including novels, novellas, collections of stories and/or novellas, novels in verse, linked collections, as well as full-length collections of flash fiction and short-shorts. There are no length restrictions.

To submit, please access our convenient online submission manager, Submittable:

<http://newamericanpress.submishmash.com/submit>

It saves paper and helps keep things organized, so please don't send manuscripts by email or traditional post. Feel free to email us if you're having trouble with Submittable.

We read manuscripts blind, so please exclude identifying information from the manuscript itself. All necessary contact information is included in your Submittable file.

Simultaneous submissions are accepted and encouraged, but please contact us immediately if your manuscript is accepted elsewhere.

Final judge this year is LORI OSTLUND. Her novel After the Parade (Scribner, 2015) was shortlisted for the Center for Fiction First Novel Prize, named a finalist for both the 2016 Ferro-Grumley Award for LGBT Fiction and the Northern California Book Award for Fiction, and designated a Barnes and Noble Discover Great New Writers pick. Her story collection The Bigness of the World (Scribner, reissued 2016), won the 2008 Flannery O'Connor Award, the Edmund White Debut Fiction Award, and the 2009 California Book Award for First Fiction. Stories from the collection appeared in the Best American Short Stories and the PEN/O. Henry Prize Stories. Lori received the 2009 Rona Jaffe Foundation Award and a fellowship to the Bread Loaf Writers' Conference. Most recently, her work has appeared in ZYZZYVA, The Southern Review, and the Kenyon Review. She is a teacher and lives in San Francisco with Anne Raeff and their two cats, Oscar and Prakash.

Please see our Frequently Asked Questions for more information. Further inquiries can be directed to David Bowen: david@newamericanpress.com.

RECENT WINNERS OF THE NEW AMERICAN FICTION AND POETRY PRIZES

168 pp | US $14.95 | ISBN 978-0-9849439-9-9

“Alden Jones writes with extraordinary insight about the hungers that drive us into the darkest corners of the self, in voices that are electric and unforgettable.”

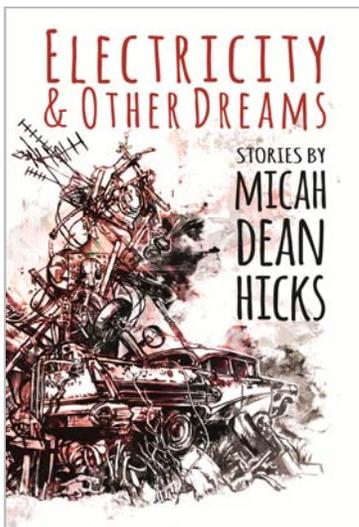

— LAURA VAN DEN BERG
author of The Isle of Youth

150 pp | US $14.95 | ISBN 978-0-9849439-5-1

“Taurus is the most accomplished first book of poetry that I have encountered in the new millennium. It is moving, tortuous, and tragic, but without a trace of the tragic mask.”

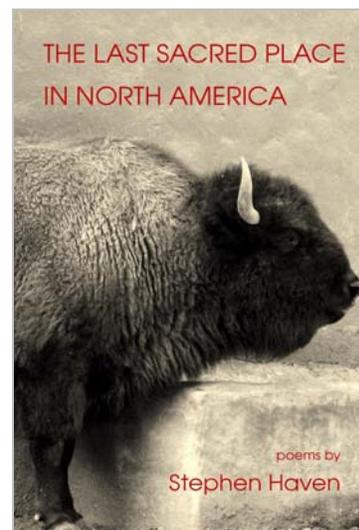

— MARK RUDMAN
author of Realm of Unknowing

230 pp | US $15.95 | ISBN 978-0-9849439-4-4

“His stories, so original, so peculiarly extraordinary, will haunt and move you.”

— BENJAMIN PERCY
author of Red Moon

98 pp | US $14.95 | ISBN 978-0-9849439-0-6

“Every word in this collection reflects concern: concern for humanity, and concern for language, humanity’s best hope.”

— T. R. HUMMER
author of Available Surfaces: Essays on Poesis